WHAT IS GOING ON IN SOCIETY.

Lenox is still very full, and Newport by no means empty, which may possibly account fo the fact that the race course at Jerome Park sented yesterday anything but a festive ap-pearance. There was no display of dress, beauty, or equipage. Mr. Belmont drove out of men, among whom were Mr. James V. Par-ker and Commodore McVickar, and a luncheor at the club house was partaken of before the races began. So few ladies were present that the men had it all their own way, and some of em looked as if they almost enjoyed it, The attractions of country places, and the tendency to linger at them, have increased so

Elisha Dyer, Jr., however, was inimitable as the returned soldier, and Miss Augusta Hunter made the most charming soubrette. Take it for all in all, the performance was quite as sat-isfactory as the much talked-of amateur play in Lenox, which probably, because so much was expected, turned out to be somewhat of a disappointment. The piece was too short and too barren of incident to be interesting, and aithough Mrs. Potter was as beautiful as ever, and the costumes and setting of the play above criticism, yet the enthusiasm was not as great when the same company have played together on previous occasions. The play was repeated at Pittsfield on Monday evening, when it ran much more smoothly, and when a repetition of Mrs. Harrison's tableaus, called "A Dream of Fair Women," added very much to the interest of the occasion. On the conclusion of the performance a supper was given by Mrs. sides the amateurs, Mrs. Edward Rogers, Mrs. everal others from New York and Philadelphia.

The gayety at Lenox waxes rather than wanes. Mrs. Lanier's beautiful ball on Thursday evening was in every way a success. The principal avenue leading to the house was lit with Japanese lanterns, which were very effective. as the night was so dark. The stone wall which forms the base of the terrace was also brilliantly illuminated with lanterns, whose light was strong enough to bring out the color of the large bed of red geraniums at the foot of the wall. The house was beautifully decorated with flowers, and there was a row of India rubber ants and small naims lining the staircase by the banisters. The plazza was enclosed with Spanish blinds, which were entirely covered with autumn leaves and flowers, really making an entire wall of them. It was lighted with Japanese lanterns, and rugs, sofas, and the guests. The dancing took place in the hall. with music by Lander, and the cotillon was led by Mr. Franklin Bartlett with Miss Lanier. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lawrence, the Misses Leavett, Mr. and Mrs. John Kane, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kernochan, Mrs. Wollman, the Misses Wright, the Misses Appleton, Miss May Dun-can, Miss Elise Perkins, Mr. Frank Appleton, Mr. Fred Frelinghuysen, Mr. Furman, Mr. Paul Dana, Mrs. W. Fay, Mrs. Morse and son. and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hunnewell from Boston, Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Haven and Miss Haven, and Mrs. Henry Turnbull, The cotillion was kept up until half past two.
On Wednesday evening Miss Appleton of Boston gave an auction party, with prizes pretty enough to satisfy the eagerness of all the bidders. Among the ladies present were Mrs. Hunnewell, Mrs. Newbold, Mrs. Oliver, Mrs. Lydig. Mrs. John Kane, Miss Schermerhorn, the Misses Wright, and Miss Sargeant.

Exhibitions of living pictures, which were voted old-fashioned a year ago, have been quite the rage this summer, and on Saturday evening Mrs. William Schermerhorn gave a repetition of those that she was mainly instrumental and the proceeds were devoted to the same charity—the Skin and Cancer Hospital. On both occasions the tableaus were beautiful and original. The Dresden china figures at the Lenox exhibition, in which Mrs W. Fearing, Miss Schermerhern, and Mr. Beresford took part were especially striking and correct, although perhaps none of them were as beautiful as the statuettes in blue and white Dresden in which Miss Edith Draper and Mr. Charles Kirkland made such excellent effect at the Pequot House. Mrs. Schermerhorn's tableau of Blindman's Buff in the days of Louis Quinze was extremely animated and graceful, but the success of the evening was the Italian market scene, in which the Spanish beauty of Mrs. Henry Eggleston, formerly Miss Isabel Bissell, showed to great advantage.

There will be a large gathering of Keans, Stuyvesants, Fishes, and Roosevelts on Thursday next at "Ursino," the country residence of Mr. John Kean near Elizabeth, N. J., the oc-Kean and Mr. Emiyn Roosevelt. The family connection on both sides is so extensive that cards have been issued to but few outsiders.

Another country wedding, which is an-nounced for the following Thursday, will be that of Miss Crace Parish and Mr. Cleveland Dodge. It will take place at Mr. Henry Parish's beautiful residence at Irvington on the Hud-son, and is expected by the young friends of the bride to be exceptionally pleasant and interesting.

Cards are out for the marriage of Miss Martha Cowdin and Mr. Robert Bacon in Grace Church at 8 o'clock on Wednesday, Oct. 10. The bridesmaids are to be a younger Miss Cowdin, Miss Bacon, Miss Fanny Lamson, and Cowdin, Miss Bacon, Miss Fanny Lamson, and Lucy Work. A large number of Bostonians, friends and relatives of the bridegroom, will probably come on to be present. There will be a gay wedding in Baltimore on the 15th October, when Mr. Henry E. Herbert, the Irish gentleman whose engagement was the only matrimonial outcome of the Newport season, will be united to the young, lovely, and wealthy Miss Bebecca Williams.

Miss E. Gertrude Wildes of Boston has pur-

a month, and soon got into the best circles, and became quite a favorite, especially among millionaires' and Cabinet Ministers' sons from this city and Ottawa. After she left the Mountain House Mrs. James Gordon, wife of a wine merchant in this city, who roomed opposite her, missed a valuable cat's-eye ring, set with diamonds. Miss Lent, on returning to this city, took room and board in an aristocratic house in the West End. where other persons were stopping. A jeweller here, named Harper, became acquainted with her, and one day he noticed and recognized at once the ring on her finger. It startled him, as he had sold it to Gordon for his wife not long before. Some days after he met the purchaser of the ring, and told him who had, it. Gordon told his wife when he went home, and Mrs. Gordon called upon the young lady and demanded the ring. The accused indignantly denied all guilf, but the same evening a servant of Mrs. Gordon found on the door step, on answering the bell, a small package addressed to her mistress, which proved to be the missing ring. In the boarding house where the plaintiff was stopping, some clergymen who were attending the Synod here complained to the owner of the premises about her, and insisted on her leaving. She then left and went back to the Windsor, where she met a young man from Boston named Patterson. They became quite intimate during a couple of weeks, so much so that dearing a couple of weeks, so much so that dearing a couple of weeks, so much so that dearing a couple of weeks, so much so that dearing a couple of weeks, so much so that dearing a couple of weeks, so much so that dearing a couple of weeks, so much so that dearing a couple of weeks, so much so that dearing a couple of weeks, so much so that dearing a couple of weeks, so much so that dearing a couple of weeks, so much so that dearing a full that they were proceding at the suit of Miss Lent to recover $50.000 damages from Mr. Hes for defamation of character and dismissal from the botel. THE PRESIDENT'S FISH STORY.

He Lands an 80-pound Bass, and is the Proudest Angler in the Country. NEWPORT, Sept. 29 .- A bass weighing eighty pounds was caught to-day by the President at West Island. The island is nominally in the hands of the West Island Fishing Club, whose headquarters are in New York. Only a few of the members go there now. Mr. Charles Tiffany visits the place more frequently than any one else. Mr. Peabody Wetmore and Mr. Fearing go there occasionally, and so does President Arthur. There is a spacious and comfortable club

There is a spacious and comfortable club house, with accommodations for thirty or forty persons. At several points around the island small fron piers extend into the water. At times the waters are so rough that a landing is impossible.

Tresident Arthur arrived at West Island on Thursday afternoon. His secretary, Mr. Philips, Mr. Seth French, and one or two other gentlemen accompanied him. The outlook for link on Thursday was very poor. The waters were much disturbed, and bass angling was out of the question. So the party strolled around the Island, and longed for calmer weather. One of the rules of the club is that a record of what is caught shall be kept, and that a postal card stating the hauls shall be transmitted to the headquarters every day. The postal card which was forwarded on Thursday evening reported no catch. But last night the following record was posted at the club:

A bass weighing eighty popnds was caught today by the President.

A hass weighing eighty populas was caught today by the Fresident.

After breakfast yesterday morning the party went down to the piers, but found the water too rough, and there was very little sport all day. Late in the afternoon the President was lishing alone. He suddenly left a tugging at his line. He knew he had a prize on his hook, but it took him some time to land it. His patience, however, was finally rewarded, and he was greatly delighted to have caught the largest fish that has been drawn out of the West Island waters for years.

The greatlemen pass their evenings most pleasantly. They dine soon after 6 o clock, and then'take a hand at whist. It is probable that President Arthur will prolong his stay on the island until Tuesday.

The Varying Weekly Receipts on the Bridge from All Sources.

The traction cable on the East River bridge lay at rest during most of yesterday. It was run in the forenoon long enough to haul over one or two empty cars, with which experiments were made. Late in the alternoon it began to drag along again at the rate of about three miles an hour. The gatekeepers and fare-takers answered many questions as to when the cars would be running. Some of the in-quirers, when they learned that the cars were

"The total receipts of the Brooklyn Bridge since its opening." Said Treasurer Otto C. Witte yesterday, "have been 465.504. It is impossible to tell now what will be the average receipts of the bridge, because thus far many persons have passed over it from more curlosity. The receipts have been variable. Take the successive weekly receipts for foot passengers, and the variation is striking. The first week the receipts were $6.684.46. The second week we only took in $2.637. The movement started by ex-Congressman James O'Brien, which has resulted in the formation of an independent Democratic organization in this city, is beginning to excite much talk among Democratic politicians. A County Democrat said yesterday that Mr. O'Brien was a skilful organizer, and might perfect an organization which would greatly complicate the coming campaign, especially if Tammeny and the County Democracy should unite on a county ticket. "In that event." he added, "many anti-Tammany voters would follow him."

Mr. O'Brien said, last evening, that the success of the new movement had greatly surpassed his expectations. Our headquarters have not been open two weeks, 'he said,' and in that time I have talked with about 5,000 persons. They were from all Democratic organizations, and are all anxious to cut loose from the halls. We now have good organizations in fourteen Assembly districts and before the end of next week will have in every district in the city from 200 to 700 men who have both influence and political experience. Our Executive Committee will then meet and call a mass meeting. At that meeting, which will probably be held in Madisson Square Garden, we will show the people what kind of an organization we have. I am conflident that from 10,000 to 15,000 Democrats will attend that meeting.

Mr. O'Brien added that the new organization would confine itself to local affairs.

"I believe that Tammany and the County Democracy will unite," he said. "We shall fight that combination, and will make a union with all Democratic organizations and Citizens parties who are with us on that issue. We, of course, support the Democratic State ticket." Mr. O'Brien said, last evening, that the suc-
